We test children's articles for mechanical, physical and chemical properties. We test:

- babies' bottles
- pacifiers and necklaces
- children's beds
- children's high-chairs
- prams
- cutlery and crockery
- bicycle trailers
- children's safety seats
- baby slings and much more

We do not only test the mechanical and physical characteristics of these articles but also their chemical properties.

The legal requirements regarding potentially contained harmful substances are valid for all products. This applies for all articles that come into close contact with children and young children, for example:

- clothing
- lambskins
- baby slings

We offer product testing in accordance with the current European harmonized standards or other applicable rules.

Parents or potential customers will have an orientation guide with our symbol, which guarantees the tested products are safe, non-toxic and of high quality – for the good of our children!
